

YOUR EDITOR APPEALS TO YOU

If you had been in the packed Superior Court Room in Newark, New Jersey during the eight day trial, beginning March 29, 1955, you would have been amazed and curious as to why Jerome C. Eisenberg was so anxious and determined to prevent the presentation of evidence showing the American Jewish Congress's connections with Communist fronts cited by the Un-American Activities Committee.

Bear in mind that Rabbi Joachim Prinz who sued Conde McGinley saying "it is high time that this scurrilous sheet was put out of business" was at the time active Vice President of the American Jewish Congress, also Chairman of Executive Committee and Honorary President of the New Jersey branch of the American Jewish Congress, and now Chairman of the World Affairs Committee of the World Jewish Congress.

Mr. McGinley's attorneys had in court, ready to present if necessary, six brief cases of documented material such as the names of two hundred officers, former officers and most active members of the American Jewish Congress, with a total of nine hundred Communist Fronts they belonged to, also the names of forty Rabbis, Members of the A. J. C., and their Communist Front connections. The President of A. J. C., Rabbi Israel Goldstein, has twelve Communist front citations. All these citations were by the Congressional Committee of Congress, the Un-American Activities Committee.

The Judge stated he would not recognize any citations by the Un-American Activities Committee. We tried to present the Minutes of the Executive Committee of A. J. C., showing the resolutions demanding the abolition of Un-American Activities Committee, opposing the Loyalty Oath and the McCarran-Walters Immigration Law, which was passed to screen out spies from entering the United States. The A. J. C. had brought several suits to remove the Christian Bible from Public Schools. The Defense tried to present material published by the A. J. C. defending the Red publication, "The Nation." A. J. C. cooperated with Paul Robeson, negro Communist singer. We also wished to present evidence showing that affiliated with the A. J. C. were a number of subversive organizations such as Jewish People's Front and American Jewish Labor Council.

Attempt was also made to present a folder printed by A. J. C. in several colors, boasting that they had brought suit and political pressure in New York City to remove the ban on the sacrilegious film depicting the Mother of Jesus as a prostitute. Among hundreds of articles of evidence ready to offer in connection with A. J. C. and Rabbi Prinz, were letterheads of the Emergency Civil Liberty Committee bearing Rabbi Prinz's name.

The DAILY WORKER of May 10, 1955 carries an appeal by the Emergency Civil Liberties Committee calling for big attendance at their mass meeting May 18th in connection with the Un-American Activities Hearings in Newark. They stated "let the Un-American Activities Committee feel the hostility of the decent people of the state." Incorporated in this appeal is a statement by the Communist Party of New Jersey demanding that Common Sense be investigated!

Kirkpatrick Dilling, one of the Defense Attorneys, tried to get Rabbi Prinz to admit that two of his close friends, Rabbi Stephen Wise who was responsible for bringing him into this country and Albert Einstein, were Communists. Rabbi Prinz admitted he had preached a sermon in favor of clemency for Ethel and Julius Rosenberg, who were executed as spies. Rabbi Prinz, according to published reports, has made speeches advocating "mercy killings". We also tried to introduce evidence that A. J. C. had joined the Communist Party in court action to prevent Communist teachers from being removed from schools in New York.

In view of the record of the American Jewish Congress, of which Rabbi Prinz was top policy making officer, it is ironical to note the CLSA Report states "the trial vindicated the A. J. C. in its fight for Justice and Decency."

During nine years publication, eleven printers have been intimidated into discontinuing printing "Common Sense". Threat of boycott and, in several cases, printers were actually prevented from securing any paper stock. The B'nai B'rith Messenger, foremost Jewish publication, issue 3-21-52 boasted that they had prevented "Common Sense" from securing paper from any jobbers.

Among other acts of "justice and decency," our plate glass front was smashed in twice and four bombs set off. Two of our men were beaten with tire chains, I was falsely arrested, handcuffed and placed in jail. The Jewish Talmud plainly states non-Jews have no rights whatever, and are like cattle to serve the Jews.

It is reported that A. J. C. has fifty thousand members and it is also part of the World Jewish Congress, the top Zionist organization, which functions in sixty-five countries. Louis D. Brandies, prominent Zionist and Member of the United States Supreme Court, before he died urged the Jews "organize, organize, organize!"

In fear of organized, minority pressure groups, our government must place Jews or their stooges in key positions as ordered. In large cities, organized Jews have taken over the Democratic Party and are well on the way to complete control of the Republic. Political parties control appointments of officials and judges.

The Un-American Activities Committee held hearings four days in Newark, N. J., starting May 16th. Twenty-three people were called and invoked the Fifth Amendment when asked if they were Communists. Nearly all were Jews, who insulted and defied Congressman Francis Walters, Gordon Sherer and Clyde Doyle. Gabriel Bloksberg was thrown out bodily. A week before the Hearings, the Newark Teachers Union, learning that they were to be called, held a meeting to decide upon tactics to be used. The Star-Ledger for May 11, 1955 stated that their attorney in open session advised them to take the Fifth Amendment. Who is the Attorney? Jerome C. Eisenberg, who was attorney for Rabbi Joachim Prinz in the suit against me.

During the trial, Eisenberg appeared horrified when Defense attorneys attempted to bring in Communism. The trial in which a judgment of $30,000 was secured against me, was followed up by a nation-wide smear. The New York World Telegram also ran a series of attacks on Senator McCarthy that were written by Frederick Woltman, a Jew. This untrue smear carried my picture on the front page, doctored to look like a criminal.

The Anti-Defamation League which promoted this, used their influence as Jewish advertisers on papers over the United States to force republishing of this smear in a final effort to confuse patriots and reduce their financial support and destroy us.

The number of our subscribers is continually increasing. The Marxists know they cannot complete their plan to take over entirely as long as a newspaper with wide circulation exposes their moves.

The practical answer to all this Un-American pressure is to double the number of "Common Sense" readers quickly. Will you as a patriotic American help make this answer possible? If each reader will take time to secure one subscriber, "Common Sense" will double its influence at once. To compensate for some who will not be able to get one subscriber, we plead with those who have driving power to secure as many as possible. We have some friends who send five to ten subscriptions each month. If our Country is worth working and fighting for, let's do it now. For one-half of the population of the world, it is too late.

CONDE MCGINLEY, Editor

American Jewish Congress

Marlow, Chairman of CCI. Mr. Polier's report referred to (1) testimony presented in opposition to the Mundt-Nixon Bill by Aaron Lewittes, member of the Executive Committee of CLSA, who represented the Congress at the hearings before the Senate Judiciary Committee; (2) the brief amicus curiae filed in a taxpayer's suit in the New York Court of Appeals to invalidate allocation of public funds to Canisius College, a Jesuit School; (3) action in opposition to the New York system of released time for religious education; (4) the brief amicus curiae filed in the Kemp v. Rubin case, the first to be presented to a court following the U. S. Supreme Court decision outlawing judicial enforcement of restrictive covenants. In its brief, the Congress urged the Court of Appeals to declare the restrictive covenant void as against public policy.

Mr. Polier pointed out in response to a query that a group libel bill was in preparation and that every effort was being made to secure the proper sponsorship for the bill in Washington.

In his report on CCI projects, Dr. Marlow referred to (1) the Oklahoma University Law

School case in which Dr. Cook gave testimony on behalf of the NAACP, based upon the nationwide survey of social science opinion undertaken by CCI; (2) the publication in the fall by Harper & Brothers of a book by Dr. Lippitt on the Connecticut Leadership Training Project; (3) the study of "Group Belongingness", which seeks to determine the attitudes of children and adults toward being members of the Jewish people.

REPORTS ON WOMEN'S DIVISION

Judge Justine Polier, President of the Women's Division, reported on decisions taken at recent meetings of its National Board. These were designed to strengthen the programmatic activity of the Division, bring about more effective liaison between local chapters, divisions and the national office, develop techniques most effective in retaining old and securing new members, effect more adequate budgetary planning on all levels, give maximum support to the AJC. It was also decided, in response to innumerable requests, to establish a Louise Waterman Wise Memorial in the form of a Louise Waterman Wise Fellowship. The Women's Division also decided to discontinue its Congress Refugee Houses. Discussing her recent visits to chapters of the Women's Division throughout the country, Judge Polier reported finding great enthusiasm over Congress achievements in the last few years.

REPORT ON FINANCE

Mr. Harold Cohen, Chairman of the Control Committee, reported on the financial status of the Congress, analyzing the various sources of income for the year and the estimated budgets of the different departments. He stated that although Congress began the year with a deficit of $317,000, the deficit as of April 30th has been reduced to $215,000 and that by the end of the year it was expected to be less than $50,000. Allocations from the United Jewish Appeal in New York and appropriations from Welfare Funds constitute the principal sources of income.

NATIONAL AFFILIATES

Mr. Charles Sonnenreich reported on behalf of the committee to study the question of the terms and conditions upon which national organizations may become affiliated with the Congress. The committee, he said, had invited all organizations listed as affiliates to designate
